1987-present - Verge, Founder and Musical Director

Verge is a multimedia performance group which uses music and computers to create theatrical comedy shows and products. We have performed all over New York City, and recently produced our own CD, entitled "Little Idiot", in our own digital, fully automated MIDI recording studio. Verge has produced three different shows for Manhattan cable TV, and has advertised "Little Idiot" nationally on Comedy Central.

Duties include: musical composition/arrangements (using MIDI/digital audio), booking gigs, advertising (including design and logistics), lighting design, vocal training, desktop publishing, database management, video editing/processing, maintenance of electronic equipment.
